CRIMINAL COURT.

Probable Liquor Indictments the Attraction That Drew

MANY PEOPLE TO COURT ROOM

During the Afternoon, but the Grand Jury Did Not Complete Its Work, and will Likely be in Session all of To-day. Mr. Howard Claims the Present Grand Jury is Not Legally Qualified to Indict. His Objections Overruled.

The court house was a scene of activity yesterday morning and afternoon, the principal attraction being the criminal court room, where a criminal grand jury was being empaneled. Unusual interest was shown in the gathering of the grand jury on account of the large number of probable liquor indictments, through the action of so many saloonists in taking out what is called the "short" state liquor license, which is only for the sale of beer and other malt beverages. There was additional interest in the opening of the September term of the circuit court, both parts of which were in session. The dockets in the circuit court were called and many cases set for trial. The result of the calling of the docket will be found in detail on the sixth page of this morning's Intelligencer.

The preparatory steps of forming the grand jury had resulted in the selection of the following persons: S. M. Kessler, Philip Bachman, Charles Burt, Robert Nesbitt, L. A. Lallance, A. C. Harrell, William Huggins, W. F. Bodley, James McAdams, W. A. Wilson, William Ellingham, Noah Beck, W. W. Gilchrist, M. F. Giesey, W. H. Chapman, W. D. Johnson. At this point ex-Prosecuting Attorney John A. Howard, representing the saloon keepers named, introduced the following document:

In the criminal court of Ohio county: State vs. H. Zwicker, Gundling & Carabauer, Otto Tyson, Philip Kochert, W. R. Stoop, G. A. Landmesser, Mary Miller, William Hartenstein, Bader & Maurer, Christian Mueller, Nelli Quinn, Henry Amick, P. J. Gavin, Henry Robrecht, Winder & Parker, S. B. Howell, John Loomis, Joe Greer, Joseph Michaels, L. Weach, L. Stein, V. Leibold, Joe Marshall, Thomas McLaughlin, Albert Stalinski, Joseph Robinson, Joe Gamble, A. McGinley, A. G. Harrington, D. Bunch, William McLaughlin, Morgan Bros., Mary Klewes, W. Winder, Harry Goetz, Joseph Weisberger, Burke Bros., Julius Lohse, Dunch & Gauss, F. Walker, Finegan Bros., W. C. Smith, O. E. Wegsberger, C. Ruedolin, L. Riester, H. Biebersen, J. Wilhelm, Joseph Stanton, Thomas Hennegan, F. Goldstroph, Joseph Hazlett, William Fette, D. Godfried, Joseph Artam, R. Wilkie, B. Albing, William Sherry, August Meyers, Boardwing & Snyder, McFadden & Smith, F. Knuth, E. Hoffreuter, M. Letzkus, William Knoka, B. Mechen, Andrew Bishop, P. Hoe, August Deuker, D. Guth, Winterhalter Bros., H. Bensley, Jacob Detweiler, Samuel Ditch, Charles Stevens, Harry Knoka, John Sigward, E. Klopner, Jacob Steuragle, John Bartolla, Frank Ayres, Lewis Bischoff, rank Albing, Frank Widdle, Lewis P. Becker, David Evans, Mary Schwalb, Mrs. John Hans, Hinklemore Bros., Schlanski & Sonnenfeld, August Huseman, Thomas Burke, Remele Bros., L. Schwalb.

The above named defendants are advised that certain charges are to be presented to the grand jury this day attending the said court, charging them with misdemeanor, that they are residents and citizens of the county of Ohio and state of West Virginia; that they are advised that the prosecuting attorney has caused certain witnesses to be summoned to appear before the said grand jury to testify against them.

They are advised that the grand jurors this day attending have not been listed, drawn and summoned according to law; but that, on the contrary they have been selected with a special view to procuring indictments against these defendants.

They, therefore, challenge the array of grand jurors this day in attendance at court and pray that they be discharged. In support of their said challenge they charge and aver:

First, That said grand jurors are not drawn from a list prepared as required by Sec. 2, ch. 157 Code.

Second, That the said grand jurors were not drawn by the clerk of the county court as is required by law.

Third, That certain competent jurors have been excluded from service by the court and by certain officers of the court.

Fourth, That the grand jurors about to be sworn do not constitute a competent grand jury, and were not selected, drawn and empaneled according to law.

Judge Hugue at once proceeded with an investigation of the alleged irregularities. County Clerk Robertson testified that he had not been able to detect any irregularities in drawing the jurors. Mr. Hennegan, circuit court clerk, testified that he had found the jury box in the vault of his office unlocked, and had seen a number of envelopes in the box which he had not examined. Deputy Circuit Clerk Wilson testified to having received jury slips from Clerk Moffat, of the board of county commissioners, which had been placed in the jury box. Deputy Sheriff Kindelberger testified that the jurors' names had been drawn by chance.

The question of irregularities were then argued by Prosecuting Attorney Meyer, for the state, and ex-Prosecuting Attorney Howard, for the saloonists. At the conclusion of the arguments, Judge Hugue over-ruled the objections entered by Mr. Howard. He said that while the manner of the drawing of the grand jury was open to objection on minor points, he did not believe this carried with it an illegal grand jury. Mr. Howard desired exceptions entered on his behalf. Judge Hugue then charged the jury, which retired to its room and began the examination of a small array of witnesses, among whom were many saloon keepers and bar-tenders.

It is not thought the grand jury will complete its labors before this evening and its sessions may continue over to Wednesday.

In Clerk Robertson's Office. Yesterday in Clerk Robertson's office, the following marriage licenses were issued:

E. L. Maxwell, aged twenty-seven years, and Clara A. Frawsey, aged eighteen years, of Ohio county. Theodore Koenig, aged twenty-three years, of East Liverpool, and Lena Briggs, aged twenty-one years, of East Liverpool. The following transfers of real estate were recorded:

CITY AFFAIRS.

Council Committee on Finance Recommends a Further Appropriation for the Board of Public Works.

The council committee on finance last night recommended a further appropriation to the board of public works for contingent expenses. The amount was placed at $2,000, though the board asked for $4,000. An ordinance in accordance with the committee's recommendation will be presented to council.

Present at last night's meeting were Chairman Horkheimer, and Messrs. Nesbitt, Megrall and Berry, of the committee; City Clerk Watkins, City Receiver Forgy, and Clerk Hornish and C. E. VanKeuren, of the board of public works. A list of the expenditures of the board since January 1 was read by Clerk Hornish, and it showed that there was a balance of only $388.05 in the contingent fund, out of the $17,000 appropriated by council. In order to tide over the year ending December 31, the board found it absolutely necessary to get a $4,000 appropriation.

Though the board's contingent fund was $23,000 last year, they could have gotten along with $17,000 this year, were it not for some work which should have been provided for out of another fund. For instance, as in the following items: Market street bridge, $2,000; Twenty-ninth & McCulloch bridge, $1,000, and balance due on street roller contract, $800.

The finance committee was not averse to granting the appropriation if funds could be secured, but after some discussion it was thought that the tax collections this year could be pushed for $2,000 beyond the estimate, and Clerk Watkins promised $1,000 from licenses, etc. He is hot on the trail of all men not paying licenses, and will go after some who owe for 1896.

Petitions and Remonstrances.

The committee on petitions and remonstrances last night recommended granting coffee house licenses to A. Huggins, A. Eoff and George C. Warner. The Anglo Strong petition was on hand, but no action was taken on it. A number of Seventeenth residents were present to oppose the granting of the petition.

Health Committee.

The health committee met last night, and developed a new source of revenue to the city. A contract was made with a Philadelphia man for the crematory offfal. It is to be disposed of at forty cents per 2,400 pound, and at that price is valued between 2,000 and 3,000 loads. It will be an important item of revenue. The contractor will build a chute from the crematory dump to the upper end of Eoff street to remove the offfal, and the latter will be shipped to Philadelphia, where it will be used in the manufacture of lamp black.

Besides consideration of this scheme, the committee audited bills, totalling $4.50.

DEATH OF MRS. DEWEY

She Passed Away at Her Home in Cadiz Yesterday Morning.

The many friends of Mrs. Nancy Dewey will be shocked to learn of her sudden death about 2 o'clock yesterday morning at her home, Cadiz, Ohio. Notwithstanding her ninety-three years she was in her usual good health and spirits Saturday, and late in the afternoon took her accustomed drive; but shortly after her return she was attacked by a chill, from the effects of which she did not recover.

It was a privilege to know her—bright and sociable as she always was. She came to that section in early childhood, and ever since has been identified with the best of everything in the community. Her memory was remarkable, and her description of the customs and experiences of the pioneers was most interesting. In her early life she passed through many vicissitudes and in them all never lost her energy, courage, faith and cheerfulness.

She was a staunch Presbyterian, and, while just, exact and of the highest propriety in all her business dealings, in which she had great ability, she had the keenest sense of humor, and her cordial hospitality was evinced by her keeping "open house" for the last half-century to all her friends at her delightful home. Such sturdy character, combined with true hospitality and warm geniality, made an admirable, remarkable and charming personality which will ever be cherished in affectionate remembrance by her acquaintances.

She was the widow of the late Chauncey Dewey, of Dewey, Vance & Company, the original Riverside Iron works firm. Her children are Orville C. Dewey, of Wheeling; C. P. Dewey and Albert Dewey, of Chicago; Elphalett Dewey, deceased, and Mrs. Clara Dewey Hogg, wife of Senator Hogg, of Cadiz.
